The exercises were brought to a close by singing From All That Dwell Below the Skies. Thus was Tufts fairly launched into the world of letters--her career begun simply and nobly, she was destined to steady advance. CHAPTER TWO--PRESIDENT BALLOU S ADMINISTRATION. Twenty-one young men entered the Freshman class, who, with six Sophomores and three Juniors, made a total of thirty students. The regular work was begun August 23, 1855, when President Ballou gave instruction in history and intellectual philosophy, Professor Marshall in mathematics and physical science, Professor Drew in ancient languages, and Professor Tweed in rhetoric, logic, and English literature. At this time only one course was offered, that leading to the degree of bachelor of arts, and nearly all the work was prescribed. The history course was the feature of the institution. At this time history was scarcely recognized as a college study,...
