

Getting There Growing Up with Polio in the 30s

By Robert C. Huse

AuthorHouse. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 260 pages. Dimensions: 7.5in. x 5.6in. x 0.7in. His legs were paralyzed; he could barely walk with the aid of hip length braces and crutches. He hadn't learned to climb stairs, yet, and hard times prevented them from having a family car. But against all the odds, Robert and his mother worked it out. Growing up between two World Wars in the midst of a depression, Robert Huse fought a very private, little war of his own against the greatcrippler known in those days as Infantile Paralysis. At the age of eight, Robert entered the third grade. His mother pushed him to school in his wheelchair. Mr. Hunt, the school janitor, carried him into the building, and up to the second floor. It's all done with such loving fun, the reader is allowed to share in Robert's little secret of how his admiring schoolmates even paid for the privilege of carrying his crutches up the stairs. As told by the author, this is a book about Getting There, and how a devoted mother and a caring, sharing family and a good friend helped Robert get to school, get to his first date, get to...

READ ONLINE
[7.25 MB]

Reviews

The book is straightforward in go through easier to recognize. it was actually writtern extremely perfectly and useful. I am very happy to explain how this is actually the greatest publication i have read through within my individual life and might be he finest ebook for actually.

-- Gladys Conroy

I just started out looking over this ebook. it was writtern extremely perfectly and useful. You are going to like the way the blogger publish this book.

-- Micaela Kutch